

Leadership success in organisations tends to hinge on the ability to foster strong relationships and engage effectively with teams and stakeholders.

Leaders adept in BEI tend to be seen as trustworthy motivators who understand and address the underlying emotions within their teams, setting a resilient and adaptive tone that can influence team dynamics and outcomes.

BEI skills can be cultivated over time through self-awareness, practice, and deliberate effort, enabling leaders to make informed choices and navigate the complexities of the business landscape effectively.

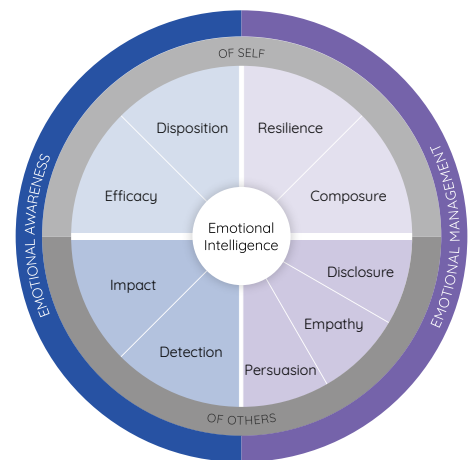

The Business Emotional Intelligence (BEI) 360 multi-rater feedback tool is designed to evaluate and measure a leader's emotional intelligence, offering insights into their performance through self-assessment and stakeholder feedback.

The BEI tool is suitable for leaders across various levels and industries. Results from this survey can help support development of stronger interpersonal professional relationships.

The survey also includes an optional psychological safety and engagement survey.

Business Emotional Intelligence Model: 4 Dimensions + 9 Facets

Designed for businesses, BEI was developed by APS Business Psychologists to measure the key facets of Emotional Intelligence relevant to the business and corporate world.

Business Emotional Intelligence 360 is a measure of emotional intelligence across 4 dimensions: emotional awareness and emotional management, of self and others.
